PROFESSIONAL SUMMARY

A dedicated Fraud Prevention and Data Security professional focused on translating policy into actionable technical defenses. I specialize in building resilient security postures by integrating automation, data analytics, and cross-functional collaboration. My recent focus has evolved from technical execution to orchestrating a cohesive defense framework—extending security governance from core operations to supply chain partners and regional branches. I am passionate about combating telecom fraud, ensuring data privacy compliance, and leveraging emerging technologies to stay ahead of financial crime patterns.
